Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

At least one result of the Roosevelt note to Hitler and Mussolini seems apparent. No one made Hitler a birthday present of Danzig. It is still nominally a free city. With a German Nazi government, however, it may be said to belong to the German Reich, without formal title. The demand for a German right-of-way across the Polish Corridor, which might have been granted by the Poles, has also received a setback. Poland has stiffened her spine and, when and if, this demand is granted that country will now receive a quid pro quo.

The President's appeal for peace did not of course receive a straigthforward answer. Hitler dwelt on statistics showing the high per-capita per square mile in Germany as contrasted with that in the United States. The fact that neighbors against whom he threatened war unless they yield peacefully, also are crowded does not enter into the argument. He makes the best case he can for Germany.

What Hitler says regarding the opportunity the United States had to enter a continuous world conference to maintain peace, when the League of Nations was formed 20 years ago, is true. What reason has he to believe that the United States would carry through any more faithfully now under Roosevelt, than it did under Wilson. And right here, it is the firm opinion of this writer, an attempt on the part of the President of the United States to co-operate with other nations in establishing economic justice on a world scale, would fail now pust as it failed before. Americans, by and large, still believe with wide oceans on two sides, and friendly nations on the other two, we can get along happily without mixing in the affairs of either Occidental or Oriental neighbors.

This is not true, for, as the President states, any war anywhere, in these modern times, inevitably affect all peaceful nations adversely. The temporary "good times" caused by demand for and sale of war materials, is offset by the dislocation of world trade and the readjustments necessary. Vast armies of men are thrown out of their accustomed employment while other armies of workers are pressed into temporary service, only to lose their employment when peace is again declared. War materials are not wealth, in the sense that pianos, radio receivers, and other manufactures are, for they are made to be destroyed. Vast armaments quickly become obsolete.

When the Germans went to war in 1914, they did so, unknowing that they would be obliged to face the might of England. They also felt certain that the United States would not come into the fray. Today, however, they know that England will fight, despite the efforts of Chamberlain to mediate and to seek a way of "appeasement." President Roosevelt's course, thus far, has not actually committed this county to war, but there is pretty broad hint of it conveyed nevertheless, when he takes the stand that any nation which uses force rather than the conference table to seek a settlement of its quarrels, is striking at the peace of the United States.

The world war is still fresh in the minds of at least half our population. What the United States got out of it was a huge debt. The depression which followed in its wake doubled, to all practical purposes that debt. The nations we helped with our money, repudiated their obligations. These welchers now ask us to intervene again; not in so many words, to be sure, but their whole attitude is one of asking Uncle Sam to come again to the rescue. And this is precisely what Uncle Sam is doing when the President intervenes with a plea to Europe's dictators. Hitler has declined to accept the President's offer. Mussolini without replying thus far has sneered at the offer. Fear of the United States may cause the dictators to go softly, but in the event they do commit more agressions, our sad experience in the last Euporean war should prevent us from a similar adventure.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Smith had as week end guests Mrs. Smith's sister, Miss Avis Caldwell; Mrs. Dorithy Siler and Charles Fairchild, all of Sacramento. The latter two are with the state division of forestry.

ANGLER HOST ON STREAMS TODAY

Monday, May first, dawned clear and bright and long before the average citizen was up and about fishermen were on the local streams trying their luck. Frank Ghidotti was among the first to return, coming back at 6:30 with a nice lot that measured about a foot in length. Next Sunday with "Whispering Dick" Lane and others he is planning to take a boat and fish in some of the favorite nearby lakes. Dick Lane and party left early this morning and are still out on the streams fishing.

Deputy Sheriff Carl Larsen, who worked hard getting his automobile ready for a trip, left early this morning and has not returned. Sheriff C. J Tobiassen and sons went out early and returned about nine o'clock the group catching a nice mess of trout from nearby streams.

George R. Carter, and party went to Carter lodge on Donner Lake Saturday and are enjoying fishing today.

It is claimed that the water is too cold for good fishing but it is expected many catches will be made before the day is over. Many boats were taken through Nevada City in the last few days to lakes in the higher mountains.

HARTUNG'S IN NEV. CITY CLOSED FOR REMODELING

Harold Hartung, who has taken over the jewelry business of his late uncle, A. Hartung, at 306 Broad street, announees that due to remodeling the front and interior of the store, it will be closed for several days. The work of remodeling is to begin immediately under direction of Robert Steger.

AGED PIONEER OF COLUMBIA HILL IS SUMMONED

Walter Bigelow, aged 82 years, dropped dead in the yard at the family home at Columbia Hill yesterday afternoon. Several members of the household had gone away for a short time and upon their return were shocked to find him dead. He had been in good health. He was highly respected pioneer of the Ridge section coming to Columbia Hill with his father when a child. His father was superintendent of the Delhi and a placer mine at Columbia Hill.

He leaves a wife and two daughters and four grand children all of Oakland, three brothers, Thomas and Chester Bigelow, Colmbuia Hill; G. A. Bigelow, mining engineer of Oakland; two sisters, Mrs. B. Gray and Miss Emma Bigelow, San Jose.

Holmes Funeral Home of Nevada City sent the remains to Oakland today. Bigelow Brothers went to Oakland this afternoon and funeral arrangements will be made when family members arrive.

JOHN BECKER BUYS BOUNDARY MINE

John Becker, former mine manager and eminent engineer of wide South African experience recently purchased the Boundary Mine south of Grass Valley. A crew started Friday clearing up the property and making plans for a new hoist which will handle ore to a 2000 foot depth. A lease was taken on the Retreat lot owned by the Catholic church and a hoist house will be constructed on it. The 300 foot shaft is caved about the entrance but it will be reopened. The mine produced rich ore when ast operated. It has been cosed about nine years following expiration of the Condon lease and litigation It is situated between the Scotia, Golden Center and North Star mines.

Leaving Nevada City John Becker spent about 26 years in South Africa, 19 years with the Newmont mines interests. Upon his return with his wife he purchased a home on Town Talk south of Nevada City and has resided there about two years.

Mrs. Randolph Carter, Tom Lewis and Mrs. Etta Duncan enjoyed a motor trip Sunday to the former home of Mrs. Carter at North Bloomfield and several other familiar pioneer and ghost towns in the same section.

THREE MARKSMEN MAKE TARGET OF OLD CAR

The sheriffs office was called yesterday by Mrs. McPharland of Smartville notifying the officers that someone was shooting up her car at Hill Crest. Three men, one of whom was Curtis Randall, who signed complaints against the CIO in charging false imprisonment at the recent labor dispute at the Narrows dam, were brought in and released later. It developed that Mrs. McPharland had lived at Hill Crest sometime ago and moved to Smartsville leaving the old Packard car. The car had seven bullet holes in it and tail light gone. It is claimed by Deputy Sheriff W. Woods that the tail light was off some time before. So far Mrs. McPharland has not sworn to a complaint against the men.

GRIM REAPER CALLS MISS DELIA HUSSEY IN S. F.

Miss Delia Hussey, of the pioneer Willow Valley family, passed away yesterday morning in San Francisco following a heart attack. She leaves a brother, Henry F. Hussey, and three sisters, Mrs. Eva Flewellen, Miss Nora E. Hussey and Mrs. Mary Larsen.

The late Miss Hussey was born in Willow Valley and graduated from the local schools. She and her brother and sisters Mrs. Larsen and Miss Nora Hussey, for several years have come from San Francisco to spend the summer here in the old Hussey home. A host of old Nevada City friends will be grieved to learn of the passing of Miss Delia Hussey.

On receipt of the sad news yesterday Carol Coughlan drove Mr. Hussey, Mrs. Larsen and Mrs. Flewellen down to San Francisco. Mr. Hussey and Mrs. Larsen had been visiting their sister, Mrs. Flewellen here.

Funeral services will be held in San Francisco next Wednesday.

THIS IS CHILD HEALTH DAY

Today, Monday, May first, is child health day and it is sponsored by the Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor, at the request of the State and Provincial Health Authorities of North America in accordance with the Congressional Resolution of May 18, 1928, which authorized the President to proclaim May Day as Child Health Day.

Slogan: The health of the child is the power of the nation.

Objectives: To bring to each community. The importance to the child's health, development, and well being throughout life, the proper food, rest, exercise, medical care, and protection against disease; the ways of informing parents and others how child health may be safeguarded; and the means whereby such safeguards may be made available for all children.

A congressional resolution in 1928 authorized the President of the United States to proclaim May Day as Child Health Day.

In Nevada City the various stores are showing health posters and emphasizing various phases of child health. The Parent Teachers Association members are placing bottles about the business district in the hopes people will drop pennies in them to assist with the local milk fund for children in the elementary school.

The PTA has supplied milg to 20 children each month this school term which amounts to $12 per month. The association funds are running low and they wish to continue giving milk to these children.

The Washington grammar school is preparing to give the Riddle Health Play for the purpose of establishing a health fund for the school.

D. A. DeNeal, deputy sheriff and field manager at the Nevada City airport, has 36 students training on the local airport. The youths are from Nevada City and Grass Valley and two have progressed to solo fliers. The south boundary of the port is being fenced. The city supplied the materials and the two airplane owners, DeNeal, and Peter Crispin of Grass Valley are building it.

BUDGET BATTLE SOON TO ENGAGE STATE SENATE

By "SCOOP" THURMAN

The assembly devoted all of last week to the budget, making some additional cuts as well as restoring some of the cuts previously made. The economy bloc committee composed of five democrats and five republicans did a fairly good job in the writer's opinion. It was not all smooth sailing by any means and at times as the amendments were voted on upon the floor the vote was extremely close. A total of ninety two amendments to the budget were made. These 92 amendments after their adoption, plus other cuts previously made resulted in a total cut in the budget of about seven million dollars. This in addition to the $73,000,000 relief item which was taken entirely out of the budget. The relief item will be submitted in a new relief bill which will be presented shortly. And again I wish to say to the people on relief that the legislature will vote them ample funds.

A. G. Thurman

The assembly completed their work on the budget at about 11:14 p. m. last Friday and we predict that the budget in its present form will be passed on to the senate during the early part of the present week. Whether that body will make additional cuts remains to be seen. However from what we have heard from members of that body, it is almost certain that additional reductions will be made.

Your assemblyman's second bill passed the senate last week without an opposing vote. The bill, which has to do with the right of privacy in advertising matters, was handled by Senator Jesse Mayo in the upper house.

Due to the lengthy budget hearing but few bills have been taken up in the lower house during the past week, and the total bills on the daily calendar last Friday numbered 451. As a result of the heavy calendar, the assembly hereafter will be in session every week day including Saturday for the balance of the session. Among the bills which should pass during the present week is one which will create a new fair district for Mariposa county which at present is combined with Merced county district.

The alien fishing bill which we referred to last week in this column still remains in committee but we predict it will secure the necessary votes to pass out of committee shortly. The last committee vote stood 7 to 6 for a "do pass" recommendation. It requires eight committee votes.

The assembly bill which would require children in all elementary grades of the public schools to salute the flag will probably come up for a vote this week. The writer believes that all children as well as adults should salute our flag but we are opposed to compulsory legislation to force anyone to salute "Old Glory". Such sompulsory legislation is too much on the order of Hitlerism. Let our boys and girls salute the flag because they love it and the nation it represents. Let's salute the flag because we love it and not because we are compelled to.

At last Friday's session of the assembly your assemblyman was happy to introduce a resolution honoring five veteran printers who competed in a type setting contest in Sacramento on that day. These old time printers came from New York, Louisiana, Washington, Kansas, and Wisconsin. The oldest of the five, Benjamin Franklin White, aged 94 won the contest. He hails from New York. The youngest of the group was aged 76 years.

One of the good old customs which has prevailed in the lower house since time immemorial has been eliminated. By a vote of the members last Friday, friends of legislators can no longer sit beside them at their desks. Heretofore, the wives and the friends of the assemblymen have always been permitted to sit in chairs placed beside the desks of the members. Even lobbyists, upon invitation have had the same privilege. But the new rule stops this and the wives and friends now will have a place reserved for them at the rear of the chamber inside the railing. Ooutside the railing, visitors and lobbyists who have permit cards may continue to be seated. A special section in the gallery will also be reserved for friends of the legislators. The reason for the revision of the rule is due to the crowded condition of the aisles and the assembly chamber in general.

One day last week some 113 persons other than assemblymen and newspaper men were counted on the floor. Newspapermen have their own desks on the floor of the chamber and they too have suffered from the extra large number of visitors and lobbyists many of the latter sitting on their working desks.

Clamper Slogan For Celebration at San Juan Is "Fiat Lux"

Turning on electric lights and power by the P. G. & E. in North San Juan, long anticipated in that historic little town, was completed today, according to Dan Stewart. Now the people throughout Nevada County, and wherever E Clampus Vitus has a chapter are eagerly looking forward to the great celebration which the Clampers will stage Saturday, May 13. On that day delegations of Clampers, from San Francisco, Marysville, Sacramento, Auburn, Placerville and other cities will arrive in full regalia to play their traditional part in a heart-warming program like those of the early days, under the direction of Grand Noble Humbug Clyde Gwin of the William Bull Meet chapter, E. C. V., Deer Creek Diggin's.

"Fiat Lux" is the slogan adopted for the celebration, which, translated means: "Let there be light". That this is also the motto of the University of California, is perhaps no coincidence. It is suspected the great and ancient order of E Clampus Vitus, which existed several years before the state university was created, generously suggested that motto to the new institution of learning.

With parades, dances, games and other attractions, the North San Juan people will throw open their little city and be "hosts to the world". Although Gwin has not completed his plans yet, he expects to have everything in readiness for the event.

With the coming of lights, North San Juan has taken another step toward its manifest destiny as one of the most progressive and liveliest little mining towns in the district.

P. T. A. HOLDS OPEN HOUSE AT ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Last Friday afternoon 250 parents attended Washington Grammar School "Open House" to see teaching demonstrations by elementary teachers. Mrs. W. P Lee was installed as president of the P. T. A. This is her second term. After installation ceremonies Ralph Smith, musical director, presented a string quartet, Mrs. DeWitt Nelson was next with her children in "Mother Goose Parade." Vice Principal Cecil Klee spoke on "Value of Education" and H. E. Kjorlie, district superintendent, spoke on "Support to Schools by the Public". County Health Supervisor I. Hefelfinger gave plans for Health Day, May 5, internationally celebrated each year by schools. Refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon.

JOHN J. MURPHY IS CALLED BY DEATH

John Joseph Murphy, 47, miner formerly employed at the Lava Cap mine at Nevada City, passed away at Weimar anitarium Saturday afternoon where he had been since last October. Murphy had resided in Nevada City about six years and is well known here. Surviving are two sisters, Alice Willy, Utah; Mary Murphy, Ireland and the following nephews, Francis and Norman Willy, Nevada City; Donald Willy, Marysville and Robert Willy, Utah. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in St. Canice Catholic church. Holmes Funeral Home has charge of funeral arrangements.

MRS. MARY WODELL ANSWERS SUMMONS

Mrs. Mary Wodell, wife of Charles Wodell, passed away at her home near the Gracey mine suddenly early Saturday morning. She has been in poor health about five years, but was in town with her husband the day before. She was born in New York 71 years ago and came to Nevada City with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. M. Pascoe, residing here ever since. She was a great lover of flowers and enjoyed nothing more than giving beautiful bouquets to her many friends.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon from Holmes Funeral Home at 2 o'clock with Rev. H. H. Buckner officiating.

NEV. CITY BOYS RANK WELL IN ATHLETIC MEET

Nevada City high school athletes won third place in a triangle meet in Auburn Saturday afternoon. They competed with Grass Valley and the Placer teams and won some valuable experience. Bill Joyal won three points in Class A and a second place in the football throw. Elton Tobiassen in Class B took second in shot put and second in high jump. John Russell, third in the 100 yard dash and fourth in the shot put. In Class C Marinkovich was first in broad jump; Tommy Novac was fourth in shot put giving Nevada City seven points in this classification. Placer placed first and Grass Valley second in the A B and C divisions. This was the first track and field event for the Nevada City boys, several of whom will enter the Sierra Football League meet next week.

WOMAN HURT WHEN CAR PLUNGES OFF HIGHWAY

Mrs. Ballard White of Turlock, suffered a broken arm, bad cuts and bruises about the head and shock Saturday afternoon when the coupe she was driving struck the inside wall and swept over the embankment side above Downieville. She was thrown clear of the car and rolled 100 feet down the mountain side. The car plunged headon down the mountain to lodge against sturdy tree which prevented it going 500 or 600 feet further down. Her husband was ahead driving a truck and when he missed her, turned back to find the accident. Passing motorists brought Mrs. White to Downieville for first aid and she was removed by the Holmes ambulance service to Jones Memorial hospital in Grass Valley for further care.

Mrs. Julia Manion of Factory street is recovering from an illness which has confined her to her home for three weeks. With her sister she has spent the winter in Nevada City and they plan to return to their mining property near Moores Flat as soon as she is well.

The Sierra-Nevada County Peace Officers association held a meeting Friday in Downieville with their ladies attending the dinner at St. Charles hotel in the evening. Gene Johnson of Grass Valley president of the association, made an extraordinary record when he scored a high 292x300 in standard .38 calibre pistol competition at 25 yards. The next meeting will be held at high noon at Dew Drop Inn south of Grass Valley, May 27 and the annual Peace Officers ball will be given in the evening.

Mrs. S. J. Odgers, former Nevada City resident now residing in Oakland, celebrated her 87th birthday Saturday, April 22. Many lovely and useful gifts, bouquets of gorgeous flowers were received from her children and grandchildren from all over the state. Mrs. Mary German of this city is a daughter.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder if some one who reads
This little tale of yesteryear,
Will seek and find in memory's maze
Fair scenes to thought and fancy dear.

I wonder how many of those who read these lines will recall the Sweetland Illumination; it's a long way back—that gala event, perhaps they will not care to commit themselves. However, here's the story, vouched for by many long time residents whose veracity is not to be questioned.

No sooner had the official count of ballote confirmed the election of Cleveland and Hendricks to the presidency and vice-residency of the United States, than the democrats of Sweetland, little mining town of Nevada County, California, entered upon a season of feverish activity.

Committees were appointed whose duties were numerous and varied; mysterious packages were soon arriving by stage; the actual labor of preparation began Friday after the school hours and continued, save for a few hours of necessary relaxation, until late the following afternoon. Darkness fell upon the town—the magic hour was at hand.

Long before the time set for the opening ceremonies, men, women and children began to file into the school yard. They paused to utter, "ohs and ahs," and no wonder. In its somber setting of pine clad hills, the modest little hall of learning glowed like a gem of the first water. When at length, the doors swung open, the crowd—and it was a crowd, surged in, and filled the building to capacity.

The interior of the building was ablaze with light and color; yards upon yards of red, white and blue bunting draped the walls and festooned the ceiling; upon the speaker's stand, which had been lavishly decorated with the colors, stood a pitcher of sparkling mountain water. Many flags had been appropriately placed, pictures of Cleveland and Hendricks conspiciously displayed. In one obscure niche, stood a forlorn picture of Blaine, which bore the inscription, "Alas poor Yorick." Lamp chimneys in the large chandelier which the children had named for the victors, had been polished until they fairly scintillated; those in the one dedicated to the defeated candidates, were soot incrusted and begrimed; of course the method of general illumination which aroused the greatest interest and enthusiasm; it had been clevely devised; every window pane in the entire building had been outfitted with smaller inner frames, or brackets, each onee just large enough to hold a lighted candle. The candles and their number must have been legion, when lighted by jubilant young democrats produced an effect never to be forgotten by those who were privileged to observe it.

It was a night of wit and wisdom, soaring song and flowery speech, merriment and good natured cajolery; even the republicans caught the spirit of the occasion and joined in the general rejoicing. Time passed with flying feet, midnight came all too soon. The last strains of inspiring music died away into silence, the last burst of eloquence ended with vociferous, "Three cheers and a Tiger!" Lights were extinguished, the weary revelers turned regretfully homeward. The Sweetland Illumination had become a memory—just another colorful incident in the annals of a region where history and romance walk ever hand in hand.

Uncle Silas says: "You can't blame the democrats for whooping it up when they have a chance; they only win a presidential election every twenty years or there-a-bouts."

JUDICIAL REVIEW OF BUREAU ACTS IS DEMANDED

SACRAMENTO, May 1.—Seeking to provide for judicial review of the acts of administrative commissions, bureaus and boards, the state bar has instructed Claude Minard, executive secretary, to appear before the legislature and urge adoption of Senate Constitutional Amendment 9.

Under existing laws, it was pointed out by State Bar officials, there is no appropriate remedy whereby persons appearing before the many commissions and boards can attack an improper ruling or order.

Recent decisions of the state supreme court have held that the acts of the administrative boards, such as the board of equalization, board of optometry and others are not subject to judicial scrutiny by writ of review or appeal. These remedies, under the California constitution, apply only to judicial decisions, the high court held.

"In view of the many important individual and business rights now entrusted to commissions and boards for decision, it is vitally necessary that reasonable and proper safeguards be provided to prevent injustice," Minard declared. "At the present time there is practically no method available to correct a wrongful or improper decision of these agencies."

The pending proposed constitutional amendment provides that the legislature be authorized to enact laws which will give superior courts the right to review and scrutinize any ruling by the administrative agencies. The measure was passed by the state senate without a dissenting vote and is now pending before the assembly. If passed by the assembly, the bill would then be submitted to a state wide vote.

A similar measure is pending before congress to provide for review of the acts of federal agencies.

Somewhere in Your Daily Life You Depend Upon Your Railroad!

The clock never stops in railroad life. Twenty four hours each day some individual or group pounds away at the incessant task of seeing that freight deliveries are made to local store doors on time. These railroad men, besides having a job to perform, have a promise to uphold, a service to render to shopper, shipper and receiver. If you are a shipper the expedience of railroad delivery means the difference between profit and loss. If you are a receiver it means standard or spcialty goods stocked on shelves to serve a public who has come to believe unswervingly in your reliability. If you are a shopper the prompt delivery of your railroad means a buying saving in time and money.

Receivers of merchandise know that railroads—and the local key-line, the Nevada County Narrow Gauge—maintains schedules to best serve their needs with rates to meet the pocketbook. They know, too, that their establishment, no matter how small, enjoys the same freighting charges as does the business neighbor whose plate glass front extends the block in length.

From the standpoint of economy alone your railroad serves you better than any comparison of competition can offer.

Mrs. Kimball's Daughter Celebrates Birthday

Mrs. Kittie Kimball of Nevada City met her daughter, of Oakland, in Sacramento Sunday and they celebrated the latter's birthday with a jolly little party. Mrs. Kimball is leaving Thursday for her mine, the Reliance Quartz and Placer. Machinery is being taken to the property and operation will start on the quartz veins immediately. She owns more than 52 per cent of the property and will remain at the mine to supervise operations. It is on the Middle Yuba river between and to the east of the town of Alleghany and Graniteville. Neighbor producing properties are the Oriental, Sixteen-to-One and the Plumbago. Mrs. Kimball and associates spent several thousand dollars on the ground last year developing gravel deposits.

Miss Vivian Hartshorn and Ray Deal Wed

Roy Deal and Miss Vivian Hartshorn were married in the court house in Reno, at five o'clock yesterday evening. Miss Leila Shaughnessy niece of the groom, was bridesmaid and George Joyal acted as best man. Miss Doris Kelley and Jimmie McCloud were also present for the wedding ceremony.

Young Deal has many relatives in Nevada and Sierra counties to whom the wedding will come as a complete surprise. He holds a position with the Idaho Maryland mine at Hills Flat. and a honey moon will be enjoyed later as he was unable to leave his work. The young people have the best wishes of their many relatives and friends.

Mrs. Florence Dickey and secretary, Mrs. Kraft, passed through Nevada City Thursday afternoon enroute to Mrs. Dickey's property, the Oriental mine, at Alleghany. Mrs. Dickey is just returning from a several months trip through Europe and the South Sea Isles.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Will Moulton of Boulder street, Saturday April 29, 1939, in Jones Memorial Hospital, an eight pound girl.

Mrs. Howard Burr is confined to her home with a severe sick spell and her many friends hope for her an early recovery.

COUGHLIN AND PENROSE WIN TO SCHOOL BOARD

Miles Coughlin and Howard Penrose were elected Saturday by an overwhelming majority to the Nevada City school board. A total of 766 votes were cast. This constitutes a record in school board elections in this city. The vote follows:

Miles D. Coughlin	512
Howard Penrose	461
J. F. Colley	285
R. J. Bennetts	245

Coughlin and Perose will become members of the board succeeding their opponents who have given many years of faithful service with no compensation save the satisfaction that comes from work well done.

JOHN MARKS, WAR VETERAN, DEAD

John Marks, 44 years old World War veteran, who fired a bulet into his brain last Friday afternoon, died at the county hospital Saturday morning and was buried from Holmes Funeral Home chapel this forenoon. Rev. J. P. O'Reilly officiated and interment was made in the Catholic cemetery. Banner Mt. Post, V. F. W., of which he was a member participated in the service.

Marks was a native of Nevada City and was employed in the mines until he enlisted in the army and served about a year overseas going through some of the worst fighting on the battle front. He was severely wounded by bursting schrapnel and was in several hospitals many months but always had to walk with one or sometimes two crutches. In recent conference with a bay city doctor he learned his leg might have to come off at the hip and it is believed this prospect with constant pain, caused him to despair. He had been operating a cafe on Broad street about a year and seemed in good spirits up until the time of the shooting. The community was saddened by his tragic death.

He was the son of Mrs. Mary Silva Marks and the late Manuel Marks. Also surviving him are, one brother, Manuel Marks of San Francisco; seven sisters, Mrs. Joe Gast, Mrs. Albert Robinson, Mrs. Leslie Jaynes, Mrs. Bell Hallett, Nevada City; Mrs. Charles Mosser, Mrs. Lloyd Owens and Mrs. Mary Gambrini, Grass Valley.

Pall bearers were, Lew Wanamake, Ray Ball, Edwin Walker, Lee Jeffrey, Max Weiss and Julio Pinella, all members of Banner Mt. Post, V. F. W.
